and unnecessary harassments and use of third degree methods to extract confessions?

THE MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI L.K. ADVANI): (a) According to the information received from the National Human Rights Commission, 244 people died in police custody in various States/Union territories in the country during the period 1st January, 1997 to 30th April, 1998. 14 of these deaths took place in the National Capital Territory of Delhi.

(b) 46679 cases were registered with the National Human Rights Commission from 1 st January, 1997 to 30th April, 1998.

(c) "Police" and "Public Order" are included in the State List of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution of India. Consequently, the State Governments concerned are primarily responsible for taking action to improve the methods for interrogation. The Government of India has, however, issued guidelines to the State Governments from time to time to ensure that the police forces conduct themselves in a humans manner and that alleged cases of police excesses, if any, are taken serious note of and dealt with promptly and firmly.
